Vomitoxin (VOM) is a naturally occurring toxin found in certain crops, including oats. It is produced by the fungus Fusarium moniliforme, which can infect crops during growth. Vomitoxin is a potent emetic and can cause severe illness in humans and animals if consumed in large quantities. The presence of Vomitoxin in crops can significantly reduce their market value and is a concern for producers and consumers alike.

This provision outlines the procedures for handling Vomitoxin in crops, including testing, grading, and the application of discounts. It ensures that producers are compensated fairly for their crops, even if they are affected by Vomitoxin, while also protecting consumers from the health risks associated with contaminated food.

For production that contains substances or conditions determined to be injurious to human or animal health, when applicable, adjustments will be made for levels of substances or conditions in excess of the amount allowed by the lower of the following:

- Vomitoxin (VOM) in excess of the amount allowed by the lower of the following:
- Other substances or conditions in excess of the amount allowed by the lower of the following:
- A public health agency of the applicable State in which the insured crop is grown.

For production that will be stored on the farm, or in commercial storage (except for production containing Vomitoxin), the appropriate samples must be obtained prior to the time of sale or delivery. The samples must be obtained from the production in a manner that ensures they are representative of the entire production. The samples must be obtained from the production in a manner that ensures they are representative of the entire production.

- For production containing Vomitoxin only (no other Section C deficiencies are present) qualifying under section C and that has a level of 10.0 ppm or less, the discount will be the sum of all RIVs applied by the buyer due to all insurable quality deficiencies, and that value divided by the local market price.
 - Sold to a disinterested third party prior to 60 days after the calendar date for the EOIP, the DF will be the sum of all RIVs applied by the buyer due to all insurable quality deficiencies, and that value divided by the local market price.
 - Not sold to a disinterested third party prior to 60 days after the calendar date for the EOIP, the DF will be the sum of all RIVs applied by the buyer due to all insurable quality deficiencies, and that value divided by the local market price, plus the applicable DFs shown in the chart below (unless you elect to delay settlement as specified in the General Statements above) added to the applicable DFs included in sections A or B2 above.
 - Unsold 60 days after the calendar date for the EOIP, fed, utilized in any other manner, or is sold to other than a disinterested third party, the DF will be the applicable DFs shown in the chart below added to the applicable DFs included in sections A or B3 above.
